Now in its 30th year, Mariachi prices have gone up, but it includes three days of classroom instruction at the Albuquerque Convention Center, taught by internationally recognized folk artists, and mariachi practitioners who are world renowned teachers/ethno-musicologists; as well as master teachers who also serve as role models. These celebrated Mariachi Maestros transfer their knowledge to future generations, as students learn directly from them. Classes are offered at beginning, intermediate, and advanced levels. This event serves as a bridge between masters and new generations and preserves the mariachi music genre.
